Dear Ragan Broyles, and Steve Mason,

I copied you on emails and asked for your intervention on the Bayou Sorrel spill, and what I received is the same arbitrary blockage I have received for 23 years, except the EPA/RRT seems to be willing to come up with a sea lawyering excuse to block OSE II for now. Your agency is being blamed and held accountable for more and more environmental problems and spill problems, that defy common sense when you have a safe economical means to meet the clean water act in OSE II. I know there is allot of push back from the top, however at some point the inevitable has to be realized, you have an ongoing problem that in your defense, when we have brought it up, you never stated there was not an ongoing release in the Gulf. I want the immediate concurrence for use of OSE II for the BP spill, here is proof you have an ongoing problem, which you probably already know <http://beforeitsnews.com/gulf-oil-spill/2013/02/nbc-admits-gulf-sea-floor-fault-possible-potential-for-an-indefinite-release-of-oil-2441040.html> you stated you could not find a scientific reason to not use OSE II, why not just say honestly it should be used and move forward you will do a great deal of good for the environment, and the natural resources of the US, which is your charter. I will await your immediate concurrence.
